LEWIS CHARGES MINE "MURDER" AT CENTRALIA

Blames Secretary Krug for Death of 111 Illinois Workers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 28—... L. Lewis said today the "111 ... ners, more or less" who ... r lives in a Centralia, Ill., ... explosion "have been mur... because of the criminal neg... of J. A. Krug."

... president of the AFL-... Mine Workers, testified ... at a senate public lands ... committee considering the ... tion of James Boyd, dean ... Colorado School of Mines, to be director of the bureau of ...

Lewis said the appointment was made by President Truman through Krug, secretary of the interior, and asked the committee and the congress not to confirm Boyd.

Listens to Boyd

Lewis had listened to Boyd tell of his qualifications and when Boyd was excused he took his place at the committee table and began abruptly:

"Some 111 mine workers more or less have, since I appeared here to testify last week, been murdered because of the criminal negligence of J. A. Krug."

Lewis said there was "too much blood smeared over our coal" he added.

"He (Krug) has failed to enforce the laws the safety code of the industry which he negotiated with this witness.

"He now sends down here through the President, the name of Mr. Boyd for the directorship. The basis of Boyd's testimony has been that he possesses no qualifications for the position.

By his own admission he knows no problems of the coal mining industry.

"Little Practical Knowledge"

"There is too much book learning and too little practical knowledge—when we read of coal miners dying every day.

How do we know he will employ qualified talent if he has no practical knowledge himself.

"There has been too much blood smeared over our coal. Here is the disaster at Centralia, Ill. Another may come tonight or tomorrow.

"I suppose we might all be sorry but that will not help the anguish of the bereaved."

Lewis testified "in the name of all the coal miners" that the miners themselves "do not want to work in their mines with the only protection coming from men appointed by J. A. Krug."

BODIES OF 11 MORE DEAD FOUND AT MINE

By The Associated Press

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 28—Rescue workers, chancing injury and possible death themselves, found the bodies of 11 more dead in the Centralia Coal Company's mine No. 5 today and the toll of Tuesday's explosion advanced toward the predicted 111.

Exploration of the long subterranean corridors was expected to be completed today but no one save kinfolk clinging desperately to their hopes believed a single survivor would be found in the debris.

Several hours were expected to elapse before the 11 bodies found today could be moved to the shaft and brought to the surface for identification. Meanwhile, 18 of the 32 corpses removed last night and early today were identified.

The new find placed at 78 the number of known dead, 53 of whom have been identified and brought to the surface. Of the remainder of 142 men in the mine at the time of the blast 33 remained unaccounted for and 31 were rescued.

The latest bodies found in the mine were burned so badly that a rescue leader said identification might be difficult. He said condition of the bodies indicated rescue workers were nearing the scene of the explosion.

Falling chunks of coal, smashed timbers, and damaged mine equipment hindered the work of the rescue crews.

One rescue worker echoed the feeling of others when he commented "it's getting dangerous for us down here—it's getting extremely bad."

The workers are now checking a mine area about three miles from the 540-foot shaft which is the only entry to the pit.

TAX CUT WINS IN HOUSE. Congratulations go to Rep. Harold Knutson (left), (R-Minn) from Rep. Robert L. Doughton (D-NC), as the house passed the Gopher state congressman's tax reduction bill with a vote of 273 to 137. Doughton led opposition to the four-billion budget cut, which capital observers predict faces certain revision in the senate. (International News Soundphoto)

DINNER OPENS CANCER DRIVE

Launch Campaign for Funds To Carry on Fight Against Disease.

Members of the Marion County Cancer Society, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and representatives from local organizations and the general public attended a "kickoff" dinner last night at Hotel Harding, inaugurating a membership and subscriptions campaign to be held in April.

L. A. Herget of Cleveland, managing director of the American Cancer Society, Ohio division, was the speaker. His subject was "Facts of Cancer."

Other speakers included Dr. A. E. Morrison, who gave a resume of the functioning of the cancer clinic at City hospital, during the two years of its existence; Mrs. David Pollak, who spoke of a benefit bridge and style show to be held at Hotel Harding April 19 and of which she will be chairman, and Mrs. H. K. Mouser, Marion county commander of the American Cancer Society, who introduced campaign workers from Marion and surrounding communities.

Richard Lister of the Junior Chamber of Commerce acted as toastmaster.

Drive Starts April 1

The campaign for membership subscriptions in the Marion chapter of the American Cancer Society will start April 1, and activities will continue throughout the month.

April has been designated by President Truman as national cancer control month. Mayor Harry L. Dowler today issued a proclamation announcing the observance of cancer control month in Marion.

Mr. Herget said that the future of the fight against cancer rests in the hands of groups like these who are now meeting all over the country.

The slogan of the drive this year, he said, is "One in eight will die of cancer." Breaking down cancer's statistics further, he declared that some person will die of the disease every three minutes in the United States.

Approximately 700,000 people in this country are now suffering from cancer, he said, and more than 100,000 will die this year. The rate continues to rise each year, probably because the average age of the population is getting higher.

At least 25 per cent of these people die needlessly, he esti-

Smith Occupies Speaker's Chair For First Time

Frederick C. Smith of Marion, congressman of the Eighth Ohio district, occupied the speaker's chair in the house of representatives yesterday for the first time in his 10 years of office, according to news reports from Washington today.

The Marion congressman presided over the house when Democrats tried to defeat a Republican sponsored bill reducing individual income taxes and a roll call vote was taken on recommittal.

Speaker Joseph Martin turned the house gavel over to Congressman Smith shortly before the Democrats moved to kill the tax reduction bill and send it back to the ways and means committee. The motion failed 237 to 172.

Congressman Smith voted yes on final passage which followed the recommittal motion.

He said afterward. "While the tax reduction is not as much as I would liked to have seen, it sure is good to vote 'Yes' for tax reduction after I have voted 'No' for so long against deficit spending."

FIVE AT PORTSMOUTH BREAK OUT OF JAIL

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., March 28—Five county jail prisoners under grand jury indictment escaped from a fourth floor hospital ward before dawn today, Chief Deputy Sheriff Burl Justice reported.

The break was accomplished, Justice said, by removing a window grill, walking along a ledge and entering a third floor window of the courthouse library. Once inside the library the men had easy access to exits, he added.

State highway patrolmen joined local enforcement officers here and at nearby New Boston in a search for the fugitives.

Justice listed the five and the charges as Donald Roberts of Cleveland, breaking and entering; Homer Clay of Lawrence county, breaking and entering; Edward Thomas of Walsh, Ky., breaking and entering; Marion Bush of Walsh, Ky., attempted rape, and Maurice Glenn of Portsmouth, robbery.

CONGRESSMEN DIFFER ABOUT MOVIE PROBE

One Asks Red Investigation as Another Claims No Need.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 28—Two members of the house committee on un-American activities differed today on whether a congressional investigation of Hollywood is needed.

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), chairman, said the committee will proceed with its previously announced intention of looking into Communism at the movie capital.

But, Rep. Nixon (R-Calif), committee member, told reporters "there are more important places to direct our immediate fire—first, the government, and second, labor unions."

Eric Johnson, president of the Motion Picture association, told the committee yesterday there are Communists in Hollywood but that if they had set out to take over the movie capital "they have suffered an overwhelming defeat."

Thomas said he was disappointed in Johnson's testimony and added "I certainly think we should go into the probe of Hollywood."

Deficiency Appropriations

Congress was handed a billion dollar reminder today that the cost of the war didn't end when the fighting did.

The reminder was in the form of a $2,451,497,833 deficiency appropriations bill presented by the house appropriations committee. Of this total $1,751,894,500 represents costs attributable to the war.

The bill provides $1,451,894,500 for the veterans administration and $300,000,000 for relief in occupied areas abroad. These funds are for the current fiscal year ending June 30. They won't affect the 1948 budget but will be a factor in determining whether the treasury will be in the red or black for the 1947 year.

Hear Testimony on Korea

In presenting the bill, the committe made public testimony of top administration officials, which included assertions that Russia maintains a 500,000-man "impressed" army in northern Korea and operates "police" states in Soviet occupation zones. These assertions came respectively from Lt. Gen. John B. Hodge, U. S. commander in Korea, and assistant Secretary of War Howard C. Petersen.

The committee also heard from Veteran Administrator Omar Bradley that congress faces this dilemma: either huge expenditures for veterans will continue under existing laws or services to veterans must be cut. He said there now are 18,000,000 veterans of both world wars entitled to benefits of some kind under congressional action.

FAIR AND WARMER WEATHER FORECAST

Rising Temperature Expected To Ease Gas Shortage.

Fair and warmer was the weatherman's prediction for the Marion area tonight. A little cloudiness might creep in tomorrow, he said.

The prediction was good news to Marion's four largest gas-consuming industries. They were shut off from their fuel supply Wednesday when the nationwide cold snap forced a curtailing of gas service. None of the plants, however, suspended operations.

C. E. Sechrist, manager of the Marion office of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., was optimistic for a return to normal in the industrial gas situation here if the weather warms up. Commercial, domestic and small industrial users have not been affected.

Rising temperature and repairs made in a natural gas line serving sections of Ohio promised today to return the state's fuel gas supplies to something approaching normal, The Associated Press reported.

The Ohio forecast of "not quite so cold" looked good to industrial consumers throughout the state. Supply had been curtailed during the latest cold onslaught.

The leak in the lines of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co. at a point between Louisville, Ky., and Little Rock, Ark., was reported repaired last night by officials of the United Fuel Gas Co. of Charleston, W. Va.

Until the line was repaired, United Fuel Gas, which with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. is part of the Columbia Gas system, had suffered a reduction of 18,000,000 cubic feet. The supply of the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., which reaches East Liverpool, O., also was decreased.

County Red Cross Campaign Goes Over Top With $27,321

Marion county's quota of $27,060 to aid in carrying on the work of the American Red Cross for the coming year has been reached plus slightly more than $200 for good measure, it was reported today by Clarence Shockney, chairman of the drive. To date $27,321.65 has been contributed by residents of Marion city and county. Workers in the residential and county districts topped their quotas by a nice margin, the figures show. While there still are some reports to be completed the territory has, for the most part, been covered thoroughly, the heads of the various divisions report.

Homer D. Cole, chairman of the Marion County chapter, Mr. Shockney and heads of the working units today praised the untiring efforts of the workers who not only rang doorbells and rapped on office doors but braved some mighty unpleasant March weather to put Marion city and county in the "over the top" column. Added to their praise was sincere appreciation of a job well done.

The drive, set for the entire month of March will not be closed officially with today's report and Chairman Shockney adds that anyone who has been missed may still contribute to the cause by sending their contributions to the chapter office at 133 West Center street, or call the office and someone will call for it.

ROBBERY GANG SUSPECT HELD

Hardin Co. Authorities Leave For Florida To Get Marion Youth.

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 28—Further action in the rounding up of a gang of Marion county youths suspected of burglaries and armed robberies in several cities in this area was taken when Hardin County Sheriff Randall Clark left yesterday for Florida to pick up a 19-year-old Marion youth. The boy is held by authorities at Clearwater, Fla.

Tipped off to the youth's whereabouts, Sheriff Clark sent a description of him and a warrant for his arrest to Florida authorities several days ago. The notice of his apprehension was received by Clark on Thursday and he left immediately for Florida, accompanied by Prosecutor Rex Hanna.

The young man is the fifth Marion county resident to be arrested this month following the burglaries of sporting goods stores in Upper Sandusky, Kenton, Columbus, and the armed hold-up of the Forest Inn near Ada. The crimes were committed early this month.

One in Franklin County

One of the youths, John Taylor Jr. 22, of 396 Leader street, pleaded guilty to charges of armed robbery, burglary and grand larceny in municipal court in Columbus and was bound over to the Franklin county grand jury on $1,500 bond. He is being held in Franklin county jail and will come before the April term grand jury during the week of April 6. He is accused of holding up the proprietors of a Columbus delicatessen and breaking into sporting goods stores there.

Delmer Lee Swearingen, 18, of near Marion and Billy Swearingen, 18, of 1049 Davids street are being held here for the Hardin county grand jury on charges of participating in the five-bandit holdup at Forest Inn. Delmer pleaded guilty and Billy not guilty in preliminary hearing. Delmer is Billy's uncle.

Morral Boy Held

A 16-year-old Morral youth is being held here for appearance in juvenile court in connection with the Forest Inn robbery. His appearance is being delayed pending arrival of a probation officer from the Lancaster Boys' Industrial school. He is now on probation from the school.

Many guns allegedly stolen from the burglarized stores have been recovered by Marion authorities.

"Selfish" Texas Couple Give Away $80,000,000 Fortune

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON, Tex., March 28—Hugh Roy and Lillie Cullen gave away $80,000,000 because, they said, they are selfish people.

"We are both that selfish that we wish to see our money spent during our lifetime, so that we may derive great pleasure from it," Cullen said.

"Many of our wealthy citizens are much less selfish than we, for they are willing to allow their successors or trustees of their estates to get the pleasure of giving their money to charity organizations after they are dead and gone."

Cullen announced the gift—to be used to establish a foundation for the purpose of aiding educational, medical and charitable institutions—from the stage of the music hall last night.

Attorneys are drawing up papers to create the foundation. The money is in the form of oil properties containing some 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 barrels of oil, estimated to be worth $2.10 a barrel.

Principal recipients are expected to be the Texas medical center and the University of Houston.

SAYS A-BOMB CHECKS RUSS

Earle Believes Soviet Troops Would Engulf Europe But for U. S. Weapon.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 28—George H. Earle, one-time diplomat and governor of Pennsylvania, said today that if the United States "didn't have the A-bomb, Russian armies would have fanned out all over Europe today and over most of Asia."

Earle told the house committee on un-American activities that in such a Soviet advance, Sweden, Switzerland and Spain would be the "islands of resistance."

"Governor," remarked Rep. Mundt (R-SD), "that is an important statement."

"That's what I believe," Earle said.

Michigan Governor First

Preceding Earle in the witness chair, Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan testified that three high officials in the CIO United Auto Workers union are "captives of the Communist party of the United States."

Sigler said the three officials are:

"R. J. Thomas, former president and now vice president of the union; George Addes, union secretary-treasurer; and Richard P. Leonard, national director of the Ford department."

Sigler added that "they follow the Communist party lines in union activities."

"Terrific Struggle"

For months, the governor said, there has been a "terrific struggle for control of the CIO-UAW in Detroit between Communists and good loyal American citizens.

Sigler said Communism is a menace in this country, that it has invaded unions and schools in Michigan and that it is operating Whole Question Returned to Deputies; German Problem Tackled.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, March 28—It was authoritatively learned that the council of foreign ministers failed to agree today on the question of German assets in Austria and turned the whole matter back to the Austrian deputies for further discussion.

The council then went on to take up the German problem.

The Russians have begun a bargaining drive in the conference to get reparations from current German production, it was learned, but the United States and Britain thus far are standing against a proposed compromise.

Iran Asks Reparations

Iran served notice today, through ambassador Prince Mozaffar Firoux, that she would claim reparations from Germany at the peace conference for war damages listed at $958,000,000.

While Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov made clear from the start that continuing reparations is the most important Russian requirement in any German economic settlement, the situation had developed into a demand and counter-demand situation until an all-night session of the Big Four council's coordinating committee last night caused all the powers to begin playing some of their highest cards.

The ministers' deputies, meanwhile, made some slight progress toward clearing up disputed provisions of the Austrian treaty. The deputies agreed to five technical and relatively minor points; decided they could not agree on four others, and received an Austrian political committee report on displaced persons.

Solution Suggested

The report showed there was four-power agreement in the committee that the Austrian displaced persons question should be solved if possible by the removal of more than 400,000 persons to Germany prior to the effective date of the Austrian treaty.

The coordinating committee, which was supposed to have finished its job of listing agreements and disagreements last Tuesday, actually completed the task at 5:30 a. m. today and then recessed until 1 p. m. to review the final draft.

Informants said this would show that in exchanges to date on German political and economic problems there are disagreements of some kind on virtually every important issue.

Austin Expected To Defend Aid To Greece Before UN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 28—Warren R. Austin was expected to tell the security council today that President Truman's program to help Greece and Turkey resist totalitarian pressure would strengthen the United Nations.

The U. S. representative to the United Nations was scheduled to deliver a major American policy speech to the council at 3 p. m.

Austin's speech was interpreted as representing the top-level bipartisan view of the United States on foreign policy.

It was drafted after consultations with President Truman, Senators Arthur Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Tom Connally (D-Tex), present and past chairmen respectively of the senate foreign relations committee, and others.

Sources close to Austin said he would peg the speech on the Greek problem as it stands before the council itself, which now has an 11-nation investigating commission operating in the Balkans.

An explanation of the American plan—intended to stop totalitarian advances in the eastern Mediterranean—will be brought into the address in connection with the specific Greek problem, it was reported.

Johnny Evers, of Famed Cub Double Play Combination, Dies

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., March 28—John J. (Johnny) Evers, middleman of baseball's immortal Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance double play combination, died today at the age of 65.

The one-time National league star, known in his playing days with the Chicago Cubs as "The Crab" and "The Trojan," suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday and was rushed to St. Peter's hospital. He died in the hospital at 9:25 a. m.

Evers suffered a stroke in August, 1942, and had been partially paralyzed since. He had been in poor health since the stroke and was bed-ridden much of the time. Nevertheless, he occasionally had been taken on automobile rides and had witnessed local baseball games during recent years.

Weighed 130 Pounds

The lantern-jawed second baseman, who never weighed more than 130 pounds during his playing career, performed for the Cubs from 1902 to 1913. During this period, the team's infield combination became a national by-word.

Surviving member of the famed trio is shortstop Joe Tinker, who lives in Orlando, Fla. First baseman Frank Chance died in 1924.

On April 23 of last year, Evers was named to baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., on a list of 11 old-time play-

GERMANS IN BRITISH ZONE DEMONSTRATE

By The Associated Press

DUESSELDORF, Germany, March 28—British military cars were overturned and other vehicles were stoned today by demonstrators protesting a food shortage here.

Approximately 100,000 persons assembled in a public park in the biggest rally since the days of Adolf Hitler.

Workers abandoned factories, shops and offices to parade to the park, carrying banners with such slogans as: "We Are Hungry," "Don't Let Our Children Starve," and "We Want Bread."

Some banners called for the resignation of Schlange Schoemgen, German food chief in the British zone of occupation.

The whole demonstration had earmarks of systematic organization and British officials said it was political, but declined to name the party they believed responsible. German sources said Communists were responsible for the demonstration, but said trade unionists did the detailed organizing work.

Harding Band Scores Hit In Annual Concert at Theater

By FRANCIS HAAS

An audience of approximately 1,300 persons displayed emphatic approval for the Harding High school band in the annual spring concert last night at the Palace theater. The soloists and the piano duo team, who displayed their knowledge of their instruments and the piano keyboard to the satisfaction of the audience, were also well received. The band of about 90 members scored a success under the capable direction of Homer E. Huffman, and gave a performance which merited the generous applause and provided an entertaining evening of music.

William L. Dowler, instructor in the school music department, who has assisted Mr. Huffman in rehearsing the band several times throughout the year, also showed his skill in conducting when he led the band in an overture and a march to open the second part of the program.

Dick Wooley, a senior at Harding and a member of the band, presented a trombone solo with band accompaniment and proved himself to be not only a good trombonist but also a composer and arranger. After his selection, which was "My Regards" by Edward Llewellyn, Mr. Huffman introduced a number which had been written by Dick Wooley for trombones, clarinets and bassoon. The selection, entitled "Serenade," was played by the group. It had good harmony with the melody played by the trombones.

Playing with a oneness which seemed as complete as a pianist's two hands, the piano duo team, Alan Cleveland and Frederick Lacey gave a performance which was thrilling to see and hear. Their numbers were "Caprice Viennois" by Fritz Kreisler, and "Holiday" by Ethel Ponce. Insistent applause returned them to the stage for an encore and also a bow. As an extra number they played "Malaguena" by Luceona.

Marimba Solo

As marimba soloist in a number with band accompaniment, LaVada Ellison, a senior, was also well received. She presented the "Rosewood Polka" by de Ville. Called back by the applause of the audience, she presented as an

HERBERT AT CAPITOL SETS RUMORS FLYING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 28—All manner of rumor preceded the arrival here today of Governor Tom Herbert of Ohio and state Republican Chairman Fred Johnson.

Ohioans here wondered what would happen during chats with the state's two prospective candidates for the Republican presidential nomination—Senators Taft abd Bricker.

Taft invited Herbert and Johnson, along with Bricker and other senators, to luncheon at the capitol. Bricker and Ohio house members had invitations with Herbert and Johnson to dinner at Taft's home tonight.

All this just couldn't happen without causing a flurry of excitement and speculation.

None of the Ohioans talked for publication but it was clear from private conversations that many thought something was in the wind.

Here are some of the guesses about what could occur:

Bricker and Taft might disclose their decision, if there is one, about the presidency. There have been numerous reports that Bricker would attempt to step out of the presidential picture by announcing his support of Taft.

Taft might be induced to make a formal announcement that he is a candidate for president. His only statement to date is that he is not an "active" candidate.

British Blame Terrorists For Oil Line Explosion

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, March 28—British officials said today five Jews had blown up an oil pipeline in the Haifa dock district, setting off a fire that raged through extensive oil and benzene installations.

The announcement said the Jews, dressed as Arabs and armed with revolvers, forced their way through heavy defenses of the oil dock area at 9:05 a. m. and placed small charges of explosives under the pipeline.

They tried to flee in a small truck, the report said, but were turned back and then attempted to scatter and escape afoot. Several suspects were rounded up for questioning, but police declined to say whether any were connected with the blasts.

The fire started by the blasts spread to nearby oil and benzene tanks of the Shell Oil Co. and engulfed the contents.

C. AND O. MERGER WITH NYC ENVISIONED

(Story on C. and O. annual report is on page 9)

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 28—Merger of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway with New York Central—in 10 years or more—is the principal reason C. and O. is buying Centrals stock, Vice President Robert W. Purcell says.

The C. and O. executive added: "If the affiliation of the roads is beneficial, why not arrange for the physical as well as legal merger of the two carriers?"

Lending emphasis to Purcell's prediction was C. and O's announced plan to file application next week with the ICC for permission to vote its some 387,700 shares of Central's stock—a figure representing about six per cent of the total.

Robert R. Young, board chairman of C. and O. and moving spirit behind maneuvers to control Central, last week was invited to take a place on that road's board. This too, is subject to ICC approval.

Advantages of Purcell's envisaged merger—a move that would expedite Young's goal of a transcontinental road — were pointed out this way by Ross S. Marshall, senior vice president of C. and O.:

NYC would benefit, he said, from transfer of coal shipments from C. and O. at Cincinnati, Columbus or Toledo.

C. and O. would gain greater diversification of freight traffic by receiving manufactured goods from Central.

The railroad's New York Central holdings of 387,700 shares cost C. and O. $7,356,027, the carrier's annual report disclosed yesterday.

COUNSELING FOR VETS DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Problem of 3,000,000 High School Non-Graduates Posed.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 28—The problem of counseling and offering technical guidance to approximately 9,000,000 veterans who did not complete high school studies before the war was posed today by a top veterans' administration official as the council of guidance and personnel associations began a four-day convention here.

Col. John W. Andrews, personal representative of Gen. Omar Bradley, VA administrator, said secondary and adult educational opportunities and training programs were needed for such veterans. He told the ten organizations comprising the council that such projects should "constitute a vital part of every community's educational program."

He said that "special attention" was due the four or five million veterans who never had held permanent jobs as well as "non-veterans seeking their first employment."

The limited number of trained counselors, Col. Andrews said, and the heavier student volume have aggravated difficulties of providing adequate counseling and guidance services.

Pair Spend Winter In Cave in Cinder Pile

By The Associated Press

CAMDEN, N. J., March 28 — Two ex-Californians didn't let the housing shortage bother them one bit—they dug a cave in a cinder pile and spent the winter.

No kidding.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Booker, looking a little sooty, told Judge John DiMona in Camden police court they lived all winter in a cave they dug in a cinder pile under a viaduct.

"Yes sir," the 54-year-old gentleman vesed. "We have been living there since we came from California.

"Only place we could get to live."

His wife, Bertha, 49, nodded, affirming hubby's testimony.

The couple had been arrested in vagrancy charges.

"Well," said Judge DiMona, "I'll dismiss the charge."

Trial Jurisdiction For California Girl Weighed

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 28 —Whether 17-year-old heiress Louise Overell is to be tried together with her college sweetheart George Gollum, 21, for her parents' murder aboard the Overell family yacht, was studied today by Franklin G. West, president judge of the Orange superior court.

If Judge West, the county's juvenile judge, decides that the juvenile court shall retain jurisdiction, she would not be subject to capital punishment, even if convicted of murdering her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell of Flintridge.

CINCINNATI BANDIT HELD UNDER $60,000

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 28 — George Strange, 42, of Dayton, O., was held in $60,000 bond by Municipal Judge Clarence Spraul today for investigation by the grand jury in connection with the holdup early Wednesday of Tony's cafe.

Also held for grand jury action were William Bell, 39, Hamilton, O., $20,000 bond; Joseph Hignite, 25, his wife, Gladys, 23, $10,000 each and Mrs. Marcella Helton, 20, Hamilton, $5,000.

The bonds, totaling $105,000 were reported to be the largest ever set in Cincinnati police court.

Lemuel J. Rose, 37, Dayton, O., was shot to death by detectives shortly after the holdup, which netted less than $1,000. Two detectives were wounded by Rose, neither critically.

Strange, who in a statement to acting Detective Chief Patrick Hayes said he participated in the holdup and named Rose and Bell as his associates, was held on three charges of robbery. Bell, who, Hayes said, also made a statement that he took part in the stickup, was held on one charge of robbery.

Mr. and Mrs. Hignite, in whose apartment Strange and Rose were found shortly after the holdup, were charged with harboring felons and the Helton woman, a friend of Bell, was accused of receiving stolen goods.

All but Mrs. Helton waived examination. She pleaded innocent.

The committee is considering bills to outlaw the Communist party.

Sigler said: "We have compiled the necessary facts to establish conclusively that the Communist is striving to gain control of the labor movement in Michigan and in some instances has succeeded in the absolute control of certain unions."

List Being Made

Sigler said a list is being made of 100 or more of the "most notorious Communists" in the labor movement in Michigan. He said he will supply it to the committee later but is making doubly sure now that no one is unjustly accused.

"Not only are they undermining the labor movement in my state," Sigler said, "but they carry out the very spirit of Communistic gospel by attempting to destroy the industry that has made Michigan great.

"There is no question about the fact that the Communist is attempting to raise his ugly head in our educational institutions."

COLUMBUS, O., March 28—Clyde C. Sherick of Ashland, fifth district appellate judge for 18 years, today was appointed to the Ohio pardon and parole commission by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

encore number Gounod's "Ave Maria."

At the close of the program, in addition to the group of Cole Porter songs which the band played, the organization presented Porter's most popular "Night and Day" in dedication to two members of the band, Paul Arndt, the drum major, and Bob Johnson, horn player, who were ill and unable to attend.

Opening the program was a march, "The Crosley," by Henry Fillmore. During this selection, the three majorettes, Elaine Everett, Martha Douce and Peggy Ulmer, in white satin costumes, gave a spectacular performance of their ability to twirl a baton. The second number was the National Anthem with the audience joining in to sing.

The band then played two Bach Chorales, "Jesus, Who in Sorrow Dying" and "Sleepers, Wake! A Voice Is Sounding." To complete the first portion of the program, the band played "Slavonic Rhapsody" by C. Friedemann, a spirited composition, a group of Stephen Foster melodies arranged by Guzman with the piano part played by Betty Jones, and a march "The Klaxon" by Fillmore.

Second Part of Program

The overture and march, directed by Mr. Dowler, which opened the second part of the program by the band were "Urbana" by Roberts, and "The Washington Post March" by Sousa.

Completing the program were: a miniature symphonic poem, "The Courtier" by North; the "Little Rhapsody in Blue" by Gershwin; a march, "Them Basses" by Huffine; and a composition of Cole Porter songs arranged by Bennett which included such best loved songs as "Rosalie," "In the Still of the Night," "My Heart Belongs to Daddy," and "I Love You."

Responding to the prolonged applause, the band presented a comedy number, "Schnitzelbank," arranged by Yoder. They played the Harding fight song, "The Red and Black" which was written by Richard Myers of the class of 1932, with high school students and other persons in the audience joining in to sing, and also "The Alma Mater."

Clarinet cadenzas in a number of the selections were by William Renwick, and other members having special solo parts were James Coss, Phyllis Gorenflo, Bob Bowers, Nina Crabtree, James Wanner, Robert Wingett, Clark Daugherty, David Brown, Bonnie Kemmerly, Pat Guy and Kenneth Dutt.

Approximately 950 grade school pupils and teachers attended the afternoon concert given from 3 to 4 o'clock at the theater.

In the evening, following the intermission when the band had returned to the stage, Mr. Huffman was presented with a gift from the group in recognition of his leadership and work in the last year. The presentation was made by Alan Cleveland.

The Harding band and orchestra concerts are sponsored annually by the Band and Orchestra Parents Association. The orchestra will give its program May 15 with Miss Shirley Ann Given of Canton, O., 15-year-old violinist, as guest artist.

Police Check Rumors Recluse Seen Alive

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 28—To their dogged search of the rubbish-filled Langley Collyer house, police had to add today the job of checking rumors that the 61-year-old missing recluse had been seen alive at various places.

New Jersey police joined the search late yesterday when, on a report that a man resembling Collyer had been seen boarding a New Jersey bound train, New York police asked them to check the possibility the missing man had returned to Long Branch, where his family had a summer home in his youth. The house has been razed.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATIONS

IN THE CHRIST OF THE CROSS WE GLORY

"I THIRST." John 19 28.

THE Word which became incarnate wanted for all the necessities of life He was denied His needs without becoming difficult, profane or perverse We glory in the Christ of the Cross because He feels with those who are imprisoned, homeless, and starving today. We are not fellow cross-bearers when we turn a deaf ear to the helpless cry of "displaced persons." We can have no part in Him if we dismiss this Cross with "they brought it on themselves."

He endured his Cross and shame and promises help to today's cross-bearers As His agents we should see that help is forthcoming.

We glory in Christ because of the attitude He took. "Father forgive, they know not what they do" In these words lie the hope of peace If we can bear on with this attitude, peace is possible. The way of the sword and revenge is death.

God does not wish suffering on His Son or anyone else Neither does He want us to deny Him or sound principles just to escape suffering There was no other way to defeat Satan and sin

We glory in Christ who is willing to bear a heavy cross that we might take up a yoke that is easy and a burden that is light

Pastor, Prospect Evangelical and Reformed Church

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N BUNDESEN, M.D

Gallbladder Operation

When a patient has his gallbladder removed because of inflammation or gallstones, he expects to be relieved of the painful symptoms which troubled him before operation And, in most instances, he is relieved, but unfortunately for such a patient occasionally he develops symptoms after his operation similar to those the operation was designed to cure

This is a very puzzling and unsatisfactory situation The trouble-making gallbladder is gone and yet the trouble continues in the form of pain in the right upper part of the abdomen, indigestion the formation of large amounts of gas in the stomach and bowel and often nausea

The secondary pain comes on suddenly sometimes passing into the back and upward into the right shoulder After it subsides, tenderness of the muscles often persists.

Such attacks may come at varying periods after operation, sometimes making their appearance within a few months in other instances holding off for as long as ten years

According to Dr Maurice Lee of England, these symptoms are in some cases due to spasm of a muscle which controls the flow of bile from the liver into the small intestine Under ordinary conditions during digestion this muscle relaxes, the gallbladder contracts and bile is then discharged into the small intestine However, after removal of the gallbladder, spasm of this muscle keeps the bile from emptying into the intestine and this is responsible for the pain and other symptoms which develop

In treating the disorder, the doctor finds that such drugs as amyl nitrite or nitroglycerin are often found to be helpful in relieving the attacks of pain, since they tend to relax the muscle spasm If there is pain which continues over a long period of time certain preparations which act like atropine may also be employed to help relax the muscle spasm The giving of bile salts and magnesium sulfate also, would seem to help drain the bile passages

If the symptoms persist even with this treatment, further operative measures may be necessary Following this operation a permanent cure usually results

Lawson Is Speaker At Meeting of Club

A talk on salesmanship was given by F. Howard Lawson, Marion insurance agent, at the weekly meeting of the Marion exchange club Thursday night at Hotel Harding.

Mr. Lawson demonstrated his points on selling by applying them to the fields of merchandising represented by members of the club. He advised politeness; keeping to the point; asking which product the prospect wishes to buy, rather than if he wishes to buy; and a proper advertising campaign to back up sales promotion.

mated. Proper treatment, by radium, X-ray and surgery can in some cases be quite effective.

It is up to lay groups such as these represented at the dinner, he said, to arouse the public to the possibilities of proper treatment of cancer, thus aiding medical science in its fight against the disease.

In discussing the cancer clinic at City hospital, Dr. Morrison revealed that more than 300 persons, not counting repeaters, have availed themselves of the facilities of the clinic.

The clinic has made about 40 diagnoses of probable cancer, he said, although other persons who had attended the clinic might have gone elsewhere for further diagnosis.

He estimated that only about 10 per cent of the people seen at the clinic actually have cancer. "Others have nothing, or come in to be reassured or to find out if cancer is present."

"Until recently we knew little to do for cancer, but we are beginning to get some victories over the disease," he said.

Following the talks, films depicting proper and quack methods of treatment of cancer were shown.

CHURCH CLOTHING CAMPAIGN PLANNED

Drive Arranged for 3 Weeks Following Easter.

In cooperation with the Marion County Council of Churches, the churches of the county will unite in a drive for clothing for overseas relief in the three weeks following Easter. Every church has been asked to keep its doors open all day for the three Sundays following Easter, so that people may bring clothing. Those who have donations but are unable to bring them, are asked to notify either their own pastor or the closest church for pickup service. Each church has been asked to box and ship the donations which are brought to its building.

Rev. Eldred Johnston, president of the Council of Churches, has made this statement: "In the Christian tradition, Easter is a time when miracles may occur. In spite of the icy grip in which nature has been held, the seeds of life are there. So with the human family. The bitterness of sickness, hunger, and suffering after the scourge of war offers the ground for a miracle of healing. To smooth away the tragedies of war, and to fill the vacuum of spiritual emptiness will be truly a miracle.

"The churches of this county can make a united ministry to world physical and spiritual welfare—the basis for a new world—one world—an enduring society. The Easter period is a natural time in our Christian life to stress this opportunity. A new consciousness of our own potential power to help work this miracle of healing should life us to new levels of consecrated service and giving. It is a miracle that works both ways."

Toy Trains Silent As Leukemia Victim Dies

By The Associated Press

HOQUIAM, Wash., March 28—Little Billy Sumpter's toy trains were silent today.

Four year old Billy, who two months ago expressed a wish for a mechanical train like the neighbor boy's, died yesterday.

When the child, seriously ill with acute lymphatic leukemia, first asked for a train his parents were unable to find one in the stores. They inserted a want ad in a newspaper.

News stories about the advertisement and Billy's wish brought a half dozen trains and offers of many more from all parts of the nation, and the boy was able to set up a railroad system that sprawled over two rooms of the Sumpter home.

At the time of the War of 1812 salt cost $5 a bushel.

Starvation In U.S.S.R. Noted

Informant Claims Thousands Dead as Wheat Crops Fail.

By REMBERT JAMES

(Rembert James was a member of The Associated Press staff in Moscow in 1945 and 1946. He is now with the Paris staff.)

PARIS, March 28 — A highly responsible informant with an intimate personal knowledge of 1947 conditions in Russia said today starvation had killed thousands of peasants in four separate regions of the Soviet Union during recent weeks.

The source listed these regions as the Ukraine, the lower Volga, the upper Volga and western Siberia.

Caused by Drouths

Famine conditions were created by severe drouths in European Russia's wheat-growing regions last year and by excessive rains that destroyed much of the Siberian wheat crop, the informant said.

The report on Russian conditions was given after dispatches from Moscow quoted official statements of an extremely serious food situation in the country, due to the drouth.

The Paris source said that at Christmas time, when the food situation grew worse in Russia, the government began slaughtering unprecedented numbers of cattle.

"There were two reasons," he said. "The first reason was that the cattle were about to die from lack of forage. The second was to have their meat for human consumption.

More Meat in Cities

"As a result, there is more meat to eat in the cities of Russia now than in many years. But the country's cattle population — far below normal as a result of the war — has been reduced enormously. It is estimated that one-third of Russia's cattle has been butchered this winter."

Another factor contributing to the situation was the fact that UNRRA food shipments, a major source of supplies for the Donets basin industrial workers and cities in the Ukraine, drew to an end this winter.

"This forced the authorities to take food from other sources," the informant said.

Elks Schedule Special Initiation

More than 30 applications were balloted on at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks Thursday night. Plans were completed for initiation of a class of candidates at 1 p. m. Sunday which will be preceded by a ham and egg breakfast served from 10:30 a. m. until 12 noon. Announcement also was made of an informal meeting set for Saturday night.

An invitation was received to attend the spring conference to be held at Canton April 25-27.

DEADLINE FOR OLD AUTO LICENSES NEAR

Between 2,000 and 3,000 Still Without New Tags Here.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 motorists in Marion county still must purchase auto licenses before next Monday night if they are to drive their vehicles lawfully on Tuesday.

Deadline for purchase of 1947 auto license tags falls at 5:30 p. m. Monday, and W. C. Bailey, auto license deputy registrar for Marion estimated over 2,000 car and truck owners are still without 1947 tags. The new tags must be exhibited on all vehicles April 1.

Approximately 5,500 sets of tags have been sold to date, Mr. Bailey said, and he estimated the final figure would be between 8,000 and 8,500. Tag sales have been slow this week, he pointed out, but he predicted a boom in business Saturday and Monday. The auto license bureau, located in the Ardrey Motor Sales building at 264 North Main street, is open from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. daily except Sunday.

Auto license plates also are being sold in six other communities in the county. Other deputy registrars are: Caledonia, Mrs. S. T. Doyle; Green Camp, Frank McNeal; LaRue, Mrs. May E. Blazer; Morral, Charles D. Faurot. Prospect, F. W. Gehm and Waldo, Mrs. Geneva Healea.

Wanted: Litigants

THE International Court of Justice at The Hague is ready for business, but so far no customers have appeared. In the first postwar session of the court last year, questions of organization were covered, and in the second assizes just concluded the fine points of administration were taken up.

Now the 15-judge tribunal is ready to start adjudicating. Judge Green H. Hackworth of the United States is on the bench with his colleagues from other lands. The clerical staff of some 25 or 30 stenographers, registrars and translators is ready with pencils poised. Won't somebody bring the court some business?

It isn't that there is a lack of potential cases for the court in its bailiwick. Someone has been disturbing the peace in China. Turkey reports someone has been prowling outside its bedroom window. Italy has been a party to a line-fence quarrel around Trieste and still isn't happy although the difficulties are quiescent now. Russia has been acting in a menacing manner, a grand jury offence in Ohio and the world, just like pointing firearms. There's a terrific family row going on down the street in India, and somebody ought to have the gumption to break into the house and try to pacify them.

No business for the World Court? If all the national miscreants in the world today were haled before it, it would be like any municipal court on the Monday morning after a rough weekend.

Uniform Licensing Standards

THIS week marks the beginning of a campaign for uniform driver-licensing standards throughout the nation. The American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators and the National Conservation Bureau have completed a study covering several years and are presenting to the states a 13-point program based on these findings.

Among the items the survey recommends to the states are standard questions and requirements for applicants for licenses and renewals; uniform practices with regard to license suspensions; clinics for drivers who are in more than one accident, and special tests for drivers when they reach the ages of 40, 50, 60, 65 and 70.

One of the principal causes of the nation's high traffic accident rate is found in the farcical licensing regulations of many states. Too many licenses go to persons whose principal qualification was the ability to affix their name to the application blank. Ohio is not the worst state in this respect, nor is its record at the top of the list.

The states will do well to match their standards against the model prepared by the survey. Uniform, scientifically established standards would do much to eliminate the nation's greatest traffic hazard—the driver who is temperamentally or physically unfit to operate a car.

How an Idea Grew

THE death recently in England of Sir Halford John Mackinder went generally unnoticed by the world at large, but the ideas of this scholarly man indirectly have played an important role in the history of the last two decades.

When Sir Halford looked at a globe, he envisioned the world in a manner different from most men. As the father of modern geographical study, he saw the Russian-Siberian plain as the world's "heartland." To him the seas were secondary; who controlled the great land masses need not worry about who controlled the seas.

Drawing on Sir Halford's theories and making elaborate emendations of his own, Dr. Karl Haushofer, a German militarist turned geographer, evolved the geopolitical theories which the Nazis used in their plan for world conquest. "Festung Europa" was the idea of Haushofer, upon whom Hitler relied heavily for advice and made a lieutenant general on the general staff.

So it was that Sir Halford's ideas, unspectacular as they may have seemed at first glance, provided a pattern for conquest when they came into the hands of the Nazis.

A Look Into Space

MOUNT PALOMAR'S huge telescope, which has been in the process of construction since before the war, is nearing completion. The 200-inch, 530-ton glass will be assembled this summer to give man the most searching look he ever has had into outer space.

The telescope, which will cost $6,250,000, will project man's sight two times farther into the universe than it ever has gone before—more than 1,000 million light years. It will open an area eight times the size of that which heretofore has been charted by astronomers.

The telescope will give scientists a closeup of Saturn's rings, chart the ridges on Betelguese and bring the valleys of the moon under close scrutiny to see if they have any housing developments with "For Rent" signs on display up there.

Nearly 200 alphabets, ancient and modern, are known, of which about 50 are now in current use.

Republicans Begin To Get Program Under Way.

WASHINGTON, March 28 — The flare of public catcalls recently has worked on the Republicans the right way. While the union reform legislation continues to be promised always for "next week," the newly elected leadership has worked out a popular tax reduction bill and is plodding prodigiously at long last with other matters. No one is saying there is a Democratic (unions?) leftwing movement afoot to block or delay important legislative results from the last election, or to assume leadership over events in place of the victorious Republicans. Of course the CIO has come forward with public demands that the congress act thus and so on some matters, which is a sign of revival of old tactics, dropped before the campaign last year. These demands, however, were met by Senator Taft with the simple response that CIO had lost its power to dictate to congress. This incident has set the pattern of legislative planning. The Republicans are acting as if their only trouble was to work out all difficulties among themselves on taxes, unions and other matters, and then deliberately to enact the agreed formula without striving for haste. They think the important parts will all be law before June roses bloom.

Doubt Obstruction Campaign

Indeed, the reporters following surface events in congress, have doubts that the unions or Democrats have been embarked on a campaign of delay or obstruction of the Republican program. They say the minority is in no political position to engage in such tactics, and blame the lack of early Republican results on the inability of the Republicans to get themselves settled into a leadership from which their men have been absent for the past 15 years. This does not alter my reportorial convictions. All signs pointed to the existence of a subterranean obstructionist campaign which is the only refuge of a defeated minority. But all signs also now point to the prospect that the Republicans will succeed regardless, and similarly suggest the campaign has been relaxed or sought deeper cover.

This does not mean the Republicans have overlooked the political prospects of gleaning votes from former Roosevelt forces. The press gallery is convinced it was hoodwinked by the senate rules committee (Curley Brooks of Chicago, chairman) in a recent case, simply because the Chicago mayorality election is scheduled for April, and the Brooks faction wants to win that Kelly ex-stronghold. It seems the rules committee decided to make a racial issue where very little evidence of it existed. The standing committee of correspondents barred a Negro reporter who received $45 from a string of weeklies and $55 from one of the few Negro dailies (Atlanta) on the ground that his salaries had been divided $50-$50 up to January 1. His case was interpreted by the newspapermen as a worked-up test by the large Negro weeklies to break the press gallery rule which limits membership to dailies (it applies to white weeklies also). The committee demanded a change in the rules to admit the Negro, a change which would apply to the white press also. But Mr. Brooks chose to interpret this as a racial abuse. His committee overthrew the correspondents and did not consider changing the rule to apply to all.

Sullivan Plan Fails

The Republicans otherwise feel good about the recent turns in politics. The initial blast of the new DNC Director Gael Sullivan failed to explode. He wanted the Republicans to proclaim they would follow Turman in the Greco-Turkish matter. Senator Vandenberg responded they were cooperating but such a proclamation could only be for political purposes. No one said anything else. The publicity director of DNC who came from the New Deal Chicago Sun's Washington office is retiring the middle of April without a successor having been mentioned. Simultaneously the RNC got a good newsman Arthur Hachten as adviser. The Truman-for-president-again talk has died down, and major politics is edging to where it should be—in the doldrums.

The John Lewis fine by the supreme court has encouraged some Republican congressmen to cut down their plans for union reform legislation and to suggest nothing is needed now excepting the portion of the Ball-Taft-Smith bill setting up federal strike mediation or arbitration agencies. But most observers are waiting to see the form of the bill if it ever comes from the committees, before deciding who is winning the undercover fight.

All in all, you could reasonably conclude the Republicans are doing some better, after the recent prodding they received.

And What About the Boiler-Makers?

In Los Angeles, members of a mechanics local have been picketing non-union juke boxes.

What do they want. . . . a five-day week for Richard?

But why, one wonders, the mechanics union? Why not the electricians', or the cabinet-makers' or, in view of the bubbling water-filled tubes which mark the breed, even the Plumbers' and Steamfitters'?

The juke-box is one of the more complex mechanisms of the machine age. More people contribute to it than to the Red Cross. Thus, in view of the many trades involved, the effort to organize the juke-box may well lend to the most complicated jurisdictional strife in the history of labor.

If the juke-box is to become a closed shop, operators will have to negotiate with everyone from Petrillo, who got there first, to the Brotherhood of Counterfeiters and Slug-makers.

The juke box industry is ripe for organization. . . . It will be just a question of time now until the Gal in Calico is wearing ermine.

People in a Trap

By STEWART ALSOP

JERUSALEM, March 28 — The quality of tension in this ancient Holy City is intermittent. For days the surface of life will seem normal enough. Only the omnipresent barbed wire and the eerily deserted streets after curfew hours serve as a constant reminder of the fear and hatred in which this country is engulfed. Then, perhaps in full daylight, perhaps in the darkest hour of the night, will come the sudden roar of an explosion, the dreary familiar wail of the siren announcing another terrorist attack, the measured clatter of Bren guns somewhere in the city slacking off to an occasional rifle shot and sirens. Then, the siren again, signaling the all-clear. The terrorists have made another successful attack. (Their attacks are always successful. However reluctantly, one must admire their courage and their technique.) Another British installation has been blown up together with a few more British soldiers and casual bystanders. The tension heightens. Baby-faced British riflemen finger their triggers, nervously waiting.

It is not surprising that in such an atmosphere, calm and dispassionate discussion of the Palestine problem and its place in the larger world situation is almost impossible. Again and again with the Jewish and Arab leaders, and even occasionally with the more stolid British, the surface calm of discussion is broken by a sudden and violent emotional explosion. It is difficult to convey the spirit of fierce passion on both the Jewish and Arab side. But it is not difficult to understand, for Palestine is a country of people caught in a trap.

All in Traps

The Jews are trapped between their own extremists and terrorists on the one hand and by British policy and British martial law on the other. The Arabs are caught in the vise of their threatened feudal social system and their fear of Jewish domination. The British are trapped by the results of a fumbling policy which has led directly to the present impasse. One thing is clear. The three protagonists in this tragedy of frustration will not soon free themselves.

As always, when man feels himself trapped, moderation on all sides is giving way to extremism. Among the Arabs, such moderates as the Nashashiri family (who are indeed moderates only by comparison with the ferocious extremism of their rivals, the Husseinis) have been reduced to cowed silence and are said to move in fear of their lives from the Husseini hired thugs. Among the Jews, advocates of moderation like Dr. Juda Magnes, of the Hebrew university, are regarded in many Jewish circles at least as cowards and at most as traitors to their race.

Hashomer Hatzair, left-wing labor organization, which opposes a Jewish state and preaches Arab-Jewish solidarity, has been attacked by the Irgun terrorists. The martial law imposed by the British, which has disrupted the Jewish economy, has played directly into the hands of the terrorists. Sympathy for the terrorists, at first confined to a tiny minority of the Jewish population, is known to be increasing.

Last year the Anglo-American commission of inquiry recommended that neither a Jewish nor an Arab state be established in Palestine and that "the aspirations of both Jews and Arabs be reconciled." In the atmosphere of Palestine today, it is increasingly obvious that this recommendation was little more than a pious and futile hope.

City Showing Wear

One reason is not far to seek. It must be a moving experience for a Jew who has suffered the long agony of the last 10 years in Europe to walk for the first time in the streets of Tel Aviv. Tel Aviv is no beauty spot. Its modern architecture in World's Fair style is already beginning to look slatternly, as the smooth plaster begins to flake and the weather streaks appear on the stucco. But even under martial law this single all-Jewish town in the world appears bustling and prosperous.

To the Jew who has known the European nightmare, Tel Aviv must seem like the end of a tortured pilgrimage. Here he is among his own people in a place created out of nothing by the dedicated energy of his race. To such a man, or to the man who has battled ceaselessly against the rocky, arid soil to create the simple, healthy life of the Jewish communal farm, it is useless—and indeed somehow obscene—to talk of the rights of the Arabs, a people who seemed to him lazy, class ridden, diseased and illiterate. Most obscene of all seem the immigration restrictions which keep his fellow Jews trapped in pogrom-haunted Europe.

Yet, to the Arab whose ancestors have lived in Palestine, however, miserably, for hundreds of years, it seems equally obscene to talk of the rights of the Jewish "invaders." There is no doubt that the coming of the Jews to Palestine has vastly improved the Arab standard of living, while the Arab population has doubled.

Some Jews believe that Arab opposition to the Jewish state is confined to the small effendi class, but neutral observers and such Arab experts as Elias Sasson, of the Jewish Agency, agree that the opposition is bitter and that it is not limited to one class.

A LITTLE LIGHT ON THE SUBJECT

How the Gimmes Spoiled Happy Haven

By Frank Tripp in Elmira (N. Y.) Star-Gazette.

THIS is the story of Happy Haven, as contented a parish as ever there was. Its economy was self-contained. It grew and produced everything it needed. It had no money, no medium of exchange. Credit was unknown.

Everybody was solvent — went to bed every night all even with the world. Those who farmed swapped wheat, corn, and wool for clothes and shoes. The carpenter who built the buildings was paid in food, fuel and supplies. Everybody paid for what he had with his own services or with something that he made.

One day Tom, the carpenter, decided he would improve his standard of living. The miller needed a new grain bin and sent for the carpenter. "It will cost you more than the last one," said the carpenter. "I will charge 15 bushels of wheat for building this one."

"But I only paid you 10 bushels for the last one," said the miller.

"Well, we've decided, me and Minnie, that we ain't getting nowhere."

The miller had to have the bin so he went ahead.

A farmer drove in with 20 bushels of wheat. "Sorry, Joe, but I've got to charge you five mushels for milling this time," the miller told the farmer. "You see, Tom-the-carpenter went up on his charge for a new grain bin and I've got to have more wheat to pay him."

"Holy crow," said the farmer. "Where do I get off?"

"Guess you'll have to raise more wheat," replied the miller.

The weaver went to the farmer to get some wool. 'Got to charge you two bolts of homespun this time," said the farmer. "The cost of milling has gone up."

"Holy crow, where do I get off?" asked the weaver.

"Guess you'll have to weave more cloth," said the farmer.

The shoemaker went to the weaver to get some cloth.

"Got to charge you two pairs of boots for the homespun this time," said the weaver. "The cost of things is going up."

"Holy crow, where do I get off?" asked the shoemaker.

"Guess you've got to make more boots," said the weaver.

Tom, the carpenter, was going fine—he thought—so he decided to tog out in some new duds. He went to the weaver for some cloth.

"What you got to pay with?" asked the weaver.

"I've got some wheat," said the carpenter.

"Okay, it'll cost you three more bushels than lats. time," said the weaver. "Everything is going up."

Tom then went to the shoemaker for a pair of boots. "They'll cost you more this time," said the cobbler. "I'll have to get three more bushels than before. Things are going up."

Tom and his wife went into a huddle. "We're worse off than ever," said Tom. "I raised five bushels for building the grain bin but the weaver charged me three more bushels for the homespun and the bootmaker charged three more for my boots—the robbers. That's six bushels, one more bushel than what I got extra for the grain bin."

"You'll have to build more grain bins," observed Tom wife.

"How can I?" asked Tom. "The miller says he can't afford to build any more grain bins. He's figured out a substitute."

"Looks like you're stuck, Tom. All you've done is increase the cost of our living."

Then came the showdown. The parson and the school teacher called a meeting of the hamlet's peers. The parson reported:

"I am very sorry, gentlemen, but the cost of things has gone up so in Happy Haven that I'll have to get more provender next year. I know of no other way to meet the situation."

"How about savin' more souls?" piped the hoss-shoer—who was promptly ejected from the meeting.

"And I'm at my wit's end," said the school teacher. "Whatever can I do?"

"You'll have to do like the rest of us," injected the farmer. "Produce more—teach more learnin'."

"I'll teach more learnin'," proclaimed the teacher. "I'll teach you numbskulls that you all are just running around in circles. And you're going to ruin Happy Haven, that's what you're going to do. If you don't wake up, this town will be in as bad a pickle as the United States of America. You'll pay me more or your brats will grow up to be bigger ignoramuses than you are—if that's possible. I'm through. I strike!"

Pretty soon all Happy Haven got the gimmes. Everybody tried to get out ahead of the pack. A new word crept into the community's vocabulary—"inflation." Nobody could produce enough to pay the others what they charged for things. So they went on a credit basis and printed some money. A guy opened a bank, loaned everybody on mortgages—and now he owns half the town.

That is the story of Happy Haven.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, March 28, 1937. Easter throngs, undaunted by a bitter wind, filled Marion churches in what pastors said was the largest outpouring of worshippers in several years. The sun shown but the March lion puffed a cold gale which thwarted any semblance of an Easter parade.

Thoughts on the Phone Strike

Nobody knows whether the threatened telephone strike will hit America or not, but we know one thing: the fellow who has been able to take his strikes or leave 'em alone is going to feel different when his wire goes dead.

The telephone is just about the most highly personal item in everyday life. People have come to accept it along with the hotwater tank, gas cooking, the radio soap opera, sunrise and door hinges. We have come to think the phone goes with the lease. It is part of our design for living.

You know how the calmest person blows up when he takes off the receiver and has to wait 30 seconds for an answer. Wait 'till he has to wait a week or a month!

On the chance the strike will really take place, we are already training ourselves for the worst. We have put in an extra supply of aspirin and sedatives. We have begun taking all the vitamins that are a help to patience and fortitude. And we devote one hour every day to approaching our telephone, disconnecting the wires and trying to be calm in the face of no response whatever.

Our friend, Elmer Twitchell, is doing the same. "I've seen Elmer when his phone seemed dead a half minute," said Mrs. Twitchell today. "And I want him prepared for that day when all he can get is a dial tone for weeks!"

"Yep," said Elmer. "I've put in a couple of dead telephone instruments and I'm practicing like everything. I've got so I can stand there with a receiver in my ear, not a sound coming out of it, and not blow my top. At first I'd bawl out the telephone system, the State, the Government, labor, capital and all phone girls, but after four or five days I got so I could cut the list in half.

* * *

"You can take away most anything from an American but his telephone. That drives him nuts. The effect on the womenfolk will be especially bad. They spend most of the forenoon exchanging dirt. I think every woman in the country should prepare for a possible loss of phone service by hanging up right now the minute a neighbor reaches the most interesting part of the morning gossip.

* * *

In the meantime keep cool. Cultivate restraint. And if the strike comes always remember your ancestors had to trust to smoke signals and the pony express.

Drama Note

The success of "Finian's Rainbow" and "Brigadoon," two whimsies involving leprechauns and the like, has caused us to dash off several new musicals. We are calling them "O'Sullivan's Northern Lights," "Gilhooley's Milky Way," "Monahan's Enchanted Chowder Party," and "Patadoon."

And how about "Ten Sprites in a Barroom?"

Comes the phone strike and we expect to encounter the wise-guy type of American—the slicker and artful dodger—who will boast that he has been getting phone calls through without trouble, adding "Black Market stuff!"

* * *

Invitation during a phone walkout: "Try and get me on the phone some day!"

Hold Tight

By TRUMAN TWILL

We have been neglecting women's hats, one of the hardy perennials for men who write columns about matters of no importance.

The hats are still going from bad to worse, but never quite get there. Designers of hats—mostly men—always can think up something funnier for women to buy.

Funnier? It goes deeper than fun. A woman's hat represents the one sure way a female can stave off the realization she is, after all, just one more woman among millions—nothing to rave about.

A woman eyeing a new hat and trying to decide whether she can get away with it is a little girl standing on the edge of space and reaching for a star. She may be a slave to everything else, but as long as she can put on a ridiculous hat and look as if she enjoyed it she hasn't had her wings clipped.

Find a woman whose hats don't do anything but shed water and who cares? When they get too discouraged to give a whoop about their hats, they've turned into lumps, which is what every woman dreads turning into—and is the thing that keeps the hat industry going like a red fire engine.

There's a drive this year to bring back loppy picture hats, the kind lamchop was wearing the day supermouse decided he didn't want to be a bachelor any more.

This will produce a rise in statistics on automobile accidents. Repair garages will be well advised to hire extra help as fast as they can find it. Picture hats and horseless carriages make a bad combination.

If he's driving and she's sitting beside him, he can't see to the right, due to the fact she always chooses that instant to look—(a) to the right or (b) to the left. Either way, the hat blocks the view.

Or, if she's driving and he's sitting beside her, he can't look to the left in time to snarl, "Hold it, hold it for crying' out loud, whaicha trying to do—kill us both?"

Or if she's driving all alone in a picture hat, she's too preoccupied with looking like a picture to notice anything but her reflection in the rear-vision mirror, which she tilts at the angle best suited for that purpose.

The last time women took up picture hats seriously, accident totals went as haywire as if someone had tampered with the adding machines. Hold your picture hats, girls, here we go again!

County Couple Exchange Vows In Cleveland

THE home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pommert of Caledonia was the scene of the wedding of their daughter, Helen Annabelle, and Joseph C. Gandert, son of Mrs. Margaret Gandert of 615 Mary street, Monday evening. To repeat their vows, read at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. McBroom of the People's Methodist church in Cleveland, the couple stood in front of the fireplace which was banked with palms, lilies and lighted candles in two seven-branch candelabra. The day also marked the twenty-sixth wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length white wool crepe dress with a white flower hat and her white Bible held a white orchid. She wore a cameo brooch which had belonged to her maternal grandmother. Her sister, Miss Stella Mae Pommert, costumed in a peach silk jersey dress with a chartreuse flower hat, was the maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Steven Dudas of Litchfield served as best man for Mr. Gandert.

The bride's mother wore a pale pink print silk jersey with black accesaories and the bride'groom's mother was costumed in a navy blue dress with black accessories. Their flowers were corsages of white roses. The candles were lighted by Miss Eleanor Pommert, sister of the bride, who was costumed in a chartreuse silk jersey dress with a lavender flower hat. Her flowers were pink glamellias in a corsage.

Mrs. Alma Downs, pianist, and Lowell Douce, soloist, presented a program of music. The instrumental numbers preluded "Liebestraum," "Tonight We Love," "I Love You Truly," "Indian Love Call," "Always," "In-"Sweetest Story Ever Told," and the wedding marches, and Mr. Douce sang "Oh, Promise Me," "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception for 50 guests followed the ceremony. Mrs. Ralph Forrest and Mrs. James Rairdon, sisters of the bridegroom, presided at the table decorated with a tiered wedding cake and candles in shades of peach and chartreuse.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride chose for traveling a gray gabardine suit with which she combined brown accessories. They will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

Mrs. Gandert was graduated from the Caledonia High school and the Felt & Tarrant Comptometer School, and is employed in the payroll department of the Marion Power Shovel Co. Mr. Gandert, a graduate of Harding High school, served in the U. S. Navy three years. He is employed with the Erie Railroad Co.

Announcement of the approaching marriage was made earlier this spring at a party given at the home of the bride-elect, and was disclosed when Mrs. Ralph Forrest was presented a knitted ear of corn as an award in a kitchen shower. At a party given later, at which women employes of the Marion Power Shovel Co. were guests, the "early spring" date for the nuptials was announced.

The name used in medical reports for the black or ship rat is rattus rattus rattus.

Weddings

Mrs. Rosalie Eakins of 207 East Mark street is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Lillian, to Donald L. Freese, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Freese of 785 Nelson street. The single ring ceremony was read Sunday, March 9, at 3:30 p. m. in the Central Christian church by the pastor, Rev. Eldred Johnston. Only the immediate families attended.

For her wedding, the bride chose an aqua colored suit with which she combined black and white accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of white carnations. Her only attendant was Miss Iola Freese, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a lime green suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Homer Watson of Marion served as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, after which the couple left on a trip through the South. The bride's gift to her attendant was a silver charm bracelet, and the bridegroom gave his best man a gold pocket knife.

Mrs. Freese is a graduate of the Ironton High school at Ironton with the class of 1941 and is now employed at the Baber Baking Co. here. Mr. Freese, a graduate of Harding High school in 1942, served three years with the U. S. Army and is now employed at King's Reverage Co.

EVERS

ers which also included Tinker and Chance.

The Scrapping Trojan

Joe Tinker, a great shortstop with whom Evers fought bitterly, and Frank Chance, "the Peerless Leader" at first base completed the combination that for 10 years kept the Cubs at or near the top of the baseball universe.

Evers and Tinker did not speak for the last two years they played together and they had several rought-and-tumble fights in the club house, but the feud never affected their sparkling playing on the diamond.

Make Merkle a "Goat"

The little gamecock's most renowned exploit occurred near the close of the 1908 season when he pulled an unheard-of play that beat the Giants out of the pennant and made a national "goat" out of Fred Merkle, the Giants' first baseman. This stamped him as one of the smartest players in the national sport and caused him to be cordially hated at the Polo Grounds in New York for the rest of his days.

The set-up on that historic day—September 23—was this:

The Cubs and Giants were deadlocked, 1 to 1 in the last of the ninth. With two out, "Moose" McCormick of the Giants reached third and Merkle was on first. The crowd roared when Don Bridwell, the Giant shortstop, slashed a clean single to center. McCormick dashed home and Merkle headed for the club house in right field, figuring, of course, that his team had won the game, 2 to 1.

But the crafty Evers noticed that Merkle had not touched second base and he motioned frantically for the ball. "The Trojan" was a great hand at reading the rule book and he had been watching for just such an opportunity. In fact, he revealed, years later, that he previously had discussed the play with Umpire Hank O'Day, who happened to be working behind the plate that day.

Evers had quite a time getting possession of the ball and the joyful Giants' rooters already were swarming on the field when he finally got the ball and ran over to touch second base.

Police Saved Him from Fans

O'Day was watching the whole tableau patiently and he promptly called Merkle out—leaving the game tied 1 to 1. With the crowd on the field it was impossible to resume play and Evers even needed a police escort to save him from the wrath of the angry fans.

The upshot was that President Pulliam of the National league upheld the umpire's decision and called for the game to be replayed after the season had closed.

On Oct. 8 the two clubs went at it again and the Cubs won, 4 to 2, clinching the championship. Tinker's triple off the great Christy Mathewson was the deciding blow, but "The Trojan's" agile brain had made it possible.

BIG FOUR

sonal assurances from all the four-power foreign ministers that they would support Iran's request that she be allowed to participate in the peace conference.

Firouz resorted to documents described as "secret" to support Iran's claim to participate in the conference, apparently following the lead of the foreign ministers, who have been yanking secret agreements out of the files since the four-power meeting started here.

CONGRESS

inate completely aid for Turkey as proposed in President Truman's program to send $400,000,000 to Greece and Turkey in an effort to help them resist Communism.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) said he favors "cutting Turkey out entirely," while Senator George (D-Ga), said the foreign relations committee likely will be asked to limit Turkey's share, passibly to $100,000,000.

Senate Returns Bill

The senate returned to the house today, with minor revisions, a bill to terminate sugar rationing and price control next Oct. 31. The house already has approved a bill to extend until that date the controls which otherwise will expire March 31.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) charged that the senate's action may bring about a "national scandal" by encouraging sugar hoarding. He favored a year's extension of sugar rationing and price control.

Tax Action Delayed

There will be no immediate senate action on the GOP-backed bill the house passed yesterday to slash income taxes.

Senator Millikin (R-Colo), senate finance committee chairman, told a reporter that hearings on the measure probably won't be started for several weeks. He said he wants to wait and see what congress does about the budget.

Passed by the house 273 to 137 the bill provides tax cuts ranging from 10 to 30 per cent. Sponsors estimate it will whack about $4,000,000,000 off the next year's tax bill.

Other Matters Considered

These matters, too, occupied congressional attention:

Telephone Strike — Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) of the house labor committee said he will have ready for action Monday a bill which would give the President authority to ask the courts to block any strike deemed against public health, safety or convenience. While the bill hardly could be enacted before April 7—date set for a nationwide telephone strike—it might be ready in time to halt a communications stoppage in its early stages.

Funds — Senator Bridges (R-NH) said W. R. Johnson, customs bureau commissioner, will be asked about a shower of letters and telegrams congressmen received after a house slash in customs funds led to dismissal of 1,400 border and port patrolmen. Bridges said he thought the firing was done to "stampede and high-pressure congress." Committee members also said they will demand the treasury quit paying six per cent interest on tax refunds.

Housing — Edward R. Carr, president of the National Association of Home Builders told the senate banking committee in a statement the Wagner-Ellender-Taft long range housing bill is a "serious threat" to the private construction industry, and would prevent private builders from getting further into the low-cost housing field."

Boyle Discovers Philosopher in Florida Sun

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

ST PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28—The old man sat down on the bench, letting his weight fall sharply in the way of elderly people with tired legs.

He was short and heavy and a cheap tie hung limply against his rumpled shirt. The flesh had begun to sag in his chubby face, but laughter had ironed nice lines around his eyes and mouth.

"Good morning," he said. "Can you tell me where I can pick up a newspaper?"

Hal Boyle

It was a walk of several blocks, and to save him steps I gave him one of the two I had bought. He read the funnies through conscientiously, but he didn't really want to read. He just wanted to talk.

"It's nice in the sun here," he said. "I came down here last year, too. It's a great place for old people. I'll be sixty-five next fall—if the Lord lets me."

2 Girls Walk By

Two pretty girls walked by—a double ripple in the shimmering sun.

"Hah," he said, nudging. "I don't even see 'em anymore."

He watched without interest as they turned a corner.

"You know what's wrong with young people?"

"No, I think they're lucky."

"They're stupid. They all want to get rich without working. They don't want to think. It hurts their heads. I can think rings around them. I can do as much in two hours as they do in eight, because I ain't afraid to use my brain.

"But I can't put in eight hours every day anymore. Had a couple of thromboses. Got to go easier. But I don't have to worry. I picked up a little here, a little there."

Looks At Boyle Closely

The old man looked at me closely.

"Me—I'm just a comedian," he said. "At home, I mean—to my wife.

"We been incompatible for 42 years, and enjoyed every minute of it. But I can't stand hearing the old lady jabber. She's nervous and has to talk. In 42 years I don't remember she ever said anything interesting. How could she when she just sits at home and don't learn anything?"

"This sun is doing me good. It would help her, too. Think I could get her to come down? Not her. She just wants to sit at home and complain every day that one more day has gone out of her life.

"What good is time if you don't use it? I like to move around. I get antlers in my pants. When I told her I was coming south, know what she did? Got right on the phone to call our daughter-in-law. It's a fifteen-cent toll. She kept right on talking, figuring that when the bill got up to seventy-five cents I would get mad. I just laughed, that made her mad and she hung up."

The old man laughed at how he had fooled her. I told him I was going across the street to get a dish of ice cream.

Diet of Pills

"I'll go along with you," he said. "I ain't supposed to eat ice cream, but who's going to tell the doctor on me? Here's what I eat mostly."

He held open a box with six different colored types of pills.

"Vitamins and iron pills, and something for my asthma—all kinds of junk," he said. He chattered away steadily while we ate the ice cream. He insisted on paying for it since I had given him a newspaper.

"Sorry, I've got to go back now," I told him.

"Where you going?"

"Tampa—for a couple of days."

The old man hesitated, then said,

"When you get settled could you drop me a line? It's only a little while on the bus to Tampa. I'll come over and we can go to a ball game. You know I'm kinda lonesome here without the old lady, even if she does talk my arm off."

McMillen 5 Trims Green Camp 42 to 38 in Y.M.C.A. Tourney

Playing in the quarter-finals of the Y.M.C.A.'s double elimination tournament, McMillen Feed cagers got sweet revenge for two previous lickings, dropping Green Camp K. of P. 42 to 38 at the Y last night.

This is the third time in six nights the Feedmen have put their hopes on the boards and the third time they more than got revenge for previous beatings.

Tonight McMillen goes against Guy's in the tourney semi-finals and it will be the first time the teams have met on the Y court. Guy's A loop champ, was seeded to the semi-finals after dropping a quarter-final to Kirk's Buckeyes and the Buckeyes were seeded to the finals.

McMillen will have an advantage in height and experience over the Raiders while the Raiders, not completely lacking in stature, will hold an edge in the speed department.

The winner of this tilt meets the Buckeyes in finals tomorrow night.

GIL DODDS EXPECTED TO SET NEW RECORD

Cleveland Director Thinks Mile Mark Due Tonight.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 28 — Perhaps he's overly optimistic, but meet director Ed McHugh predicts a new world mile indoor record when Gil Dodds steps out in the seventh annual Knights of Columbus track carnival at the arena tonight.

McHugh listed a fast track, strong opposition and the fact that the indoor season is nearing its end as his reasons for believing the pounding parson will eclipse his own world mark of 4.06.4.

This will be the next to the last meet of the indoor season for Dodds as he winds up the Chicago relays tomorrow. Making a comeback this winter after a three-year layoff, the former Ashland, O., college student has racked up 10 straight victories, the last two coming over the weekend in Canadian meets.

Dodd's 4:07.1 time, recorded this winter in the New York Knights of Columbus games, is the second fastest indoor time ever clocked for the mile.

Robinson Shows Form In Miami Ring Triumph

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., March 28—Sugar Ray Robinson didn't lay his welterweight crown on the line here last night, but in scoring a third round technical knockout over Bernie Miller of New York City, he displayed some of the fistic prowess which took him to the top of the ladder in his division. The match was scheduled for 10 rounds.

Robinson tore into Miller as the third opened and floored him five times in quick succession before Referee Eddie Coachman waved Robinson to his corner without counting. The time was 1:32.

Robinson weighed 153½ and Miller 149.

Quips from Ohio Scribes

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, O., March 28—Comments pert and pertinent are peppered through the columns of Ohio's sports editors these days as the boys who bat out pieces for the papers do it with tongue in cheek and glint in eye.

We noted a few of 'em today as we thumbed through the sports pages, and having nothing else to do we grabbed our pastepot and brand new (postwar) scissors, and decided to pass a few of 'em along.

Happy Will Be Sad

Nixson Denton, Cincinnati Times-Star: "The guy most likely to get all the worst of it when Rickey and MacPhail tangle is that well-known innocent bystander Happy Chandler." (Happy's cute enough to wait until he gets back on his home grounds at Cincinnati before announcing his decision, however.)

Consolation Prize

Bill Moeller, Hamilton News-Journal: "Many times you hear a player on an eliminated team say of the champion, 'we could beat 'em two out of three.' Hamilton high players don't have to claim they could beat the champions two out of three. They did it." (Yeah, Bill, but those Middies, like all champs, won the one that counted.)

Brown Raid Expected

Luther Emery, Massillon Independent: "Johnny Brickles, coach Paul Brown's No. 1 assistant, was at the state tourney, and Ohio State was wondering who would be next to sign a Cleveland Brown contract." (Rumor has it that the Browns are all set for talent, Lute. Maybe it was Johnny's day off and he was just on a busman's holiday).

For the Fun of It

Jim Doyle, Cleveland Plain Dealer: "John Michael Paveskovich has asked the Boston court to allow him to change his last name to Pesky, for short, and baseball bugs the country over could tell the court that you could find no more than one or two guys, at the most, better than Pesky, for short." (Correct, Jim, although he was Slaughtered into being the World Series goat.)

Can't Have Everything

Pete Minego, Portsmouth Times: "When Kentucky's basketball team reached New York for the annual invitational, 12 beautiful girls, all formerly of Lexington, pinned posies on the players." (The boys from old Kaintuck probably enjoyed that more than they did the 49-45 point setback that Utah pinned on 'em Monday night.)

Math in a Whirl

Paul Day, Middletown Journal: "You don't get over state basketball championships in a day, and it may be a week before Coach Paul Walker, teaching mathematics, can convince anyone that the value of pi is 3.1416 and not 47-29, or that the hypotenuse of a right triangle is the sum of the square roots of the two sides and not East Liverpool." (It would take him longer than that to convince us, Paul—for all we knew when we graduated were the football signals.)

Crestline Kiwanians Hear Music Students

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, March 28—Mrs. Gregg Pennington, supervisor of music in Crestline public schools, presented two high school students, Jane Hoffman and Mary Ann Mayer, in a program at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club Wednesday noon at the Y. M. C. A. Miss Hoffman gave a violin solo and Miss Mayer two trombone solos. They then sang two vocal duets.

Feller To Make 4th Mound Start Today

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, March 28 — Bob Feller makes his fourth start of the exhibition season today as the Cleveland Indians tangle again with the Chicago Cubs.

The Tribe fireballer showed he was rounding into form last Sunday when he hurled seven innings against the Chicago White Sox, allowed six hits and fanned seven. He'll probably work eight innings today.

Pat Seerey continued to be the big news in the Indians' camp. The portly fly chaser clouted two long home runs yesterday, boosting his total to six for five days, but the Tribe dropped an 8 to 6 decision to the Cubs, who now have a 3 to 1 lead in the series.

Last Gust of Wordy Baseball Battle Seen

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28—What most baseball men fervently hoped would be the last spasm of the wordy quarrel between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers was to take place before Commissioner A. B Chandler here today.

The chief antagonists, President Branch Rickey of Brooklyn and President Larry MacPhail of the Yanks, have been summoned by the boss-man to sit down and jaw at one another close-up, and, if possible, get the rancor out of their respective systems

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, March 28—Jimmy Powers who developed both Blue Ribbon and Better Value when he was sports editor for Col E R. Bradley's Louisville Times, refused to give the former Governor an edge as a Kentucky Democratic candidate . . . The Philadelphia Warriors sent the entire squad to Atlantic City for a four-game test before the last two games of the Basketball Association season, which will decide the second-place tussle with the Washington Knicks . . Al (Red T.e) Moscowitz is slightly peeved at the New York boxing commission because it insists on setting ticket prices for fights in his arena. "The commission sets the prices," Al insists. "If I charge too much, the people don't come" . . . But Al's troubles are nothing compared to the headaches fighters and managers have had since the New York commission has ordered them to buy new trunks to improve their appearance . . .

After reading about the Oakland, Calif., Bittners in the recent A.A.U. basketball tournament, a puzzled feminine fan queries the Rocky Mountain News sports desk: "I've heard of the Tigers, the Bears, the Wildcats and things like that. Now what kind of an animal is a Bittner"? The answer, of course, is that a Bittner is a tax consultant (first name, Lou) who sponsors the team.

Cerdan-Green 'Go' on WMRN Tonight

French and European Middleweight Champion Marcel Cerdan (above) from Casablanca jeopardizes his world title aspirations when he faces Harold Green of Brooklyn in a ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The Casablanca Cyclone has a reputation as a toughie in the art of slugging. He is credited with 87 wins in 89 contests and has knocked 65 victims flatter than the kitchen linoleum. In his first Garden appearance, he defeated Georgie Abrams.

Green, however, is a capable boxer and also has his fights set on the title. He's a slam-bang hitter who likes to crowd his way to close quarters and then work home his lethal body attack. The short round bout is a sixty, Eastern fight.

Foreign Affairs Expert Urges Caution in Near East Venture

Visiting Professor at Ohio Wesleyan Discusses Senate Testimony in Kiwanis Club Talk.

A course of considerable hesitancy before plunging into the "boiling cauldron" of the Near East was urged for the United States by Dr Samuel Guy Inman, authority on Latin America and visiting professor of international relations at Ohio Wesleyan university, at a talk before the Marion Kiwanis club at its weekly luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding Thursday

Dr Inman, who testified on the Greek intervention question Tuesday before the senate foreign relations committee at the request of Senator Vandenburg, recommended that the issue be put up to the United Nations and that the United States act only if authorized by that body

In any event he urged this country take no action until after long and searching debate on the question pointing out that the Monroe doctrine was discussed six years before being announced as a policy

Follows Testimony

His remarks before the Kiwanians were substantially the same as those at the Senate committee meeting

Dr Inman, who has traveled extensively in Latin and South America, was pessimistic as to any good that might come from the United States mixing into the affairs of other countries

He pointed out the hatred brought down upon the United States by our intervention in Latin American nations Forty armed interventions resulted from President Theodore Roosevelt's policy of "restoring order," he said

Most of these interventions, he declared, were made at the behest of big business interests in the United States

And the old idea of 'trade follows the flag' isn't out of date Petroleum is behind much of this talk of intervention,' the speaker charged

The Near East contains the world's richest oil fields he pointed out and in attempting to aid suffering foreign peoples we may be really aiding our own bankers and big business men

Paraphrasing Winston Churchill's remark that World War I was won on an ocean of oil, Dr Inman warned,

"We must be careful we do not go on an ocean of oil to the third World War"

Distinguished Career

The speaker has a long and distinguished record in international relations. He lived for ten years in Mexico, where he founded and directed the Peoples Institute He has been a delegate to every Pan-American conference since 1923 and served as consultant to the U S state department during the formation of the United Nations at San Francisco

Dr Inman was introduced by Paul Hunt, program chairman

Guests included Herman Shipps alumn. secretary of Ohio Wesleyan university, Harry M Chambers of Portsmouth John A Abel of Kansas City Truman Landberg of Cincinnati, and Harry Habelman Jr of Marion

Don't Count Your Income Tax Cut Just Yet, Marlow Reminds

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, March 28 — What about that income tax cut of yours?

Don't count it till it's natched. It's all tangled up in politics. You can't predict the outcome.

The Republicans want the cut. They're pushing it. The Democrats don't want it. Most of them are bucking it.

But didn't the house vote an income tax cut for everybody yesterday? Sure.

James Marlow

But now it goes to the senate. The senate will make changes. There'll be a lot of talk in the senate.

Then the finished article—the Republicans have enough votes to put it over—goes to President Truman for his signature.

He may veto it.

If he does, you'll get no tax cut at all unless congress can get up a two-thirds vote to pass it over his veto. That's tough to do.

The Republicans started promising a cut back in the 1946 election campaign. Now they're carrying through.

They say taxes are too high. They say the people need more spending money.

Bunk, the Democrats say. They say the people can't get enough goods to buy now with the money they have.

And they say the Republicans are just playing politics with taxes to win votes in the 1948 elections.

If the government has any money left over after meeting expenses, the Democrats want it used to pay off some of the national debt.

One thing is sure:

The way the house bill stands now the bigger your income, the more money you'll save as result of the cut.

Example Listed

That's because of the percentage basis on which the tax is figured. For example:

If a man's tax is $100, a 30 per cent cut would mean a saving to him of $30.

If a man's tax is $1,000,000, only a 10 per cent cut will mean a saving to him of $100,000.

This is, generally, the way the cut is figured:

A 30 per cent cut in taxable incomes up to $1,000; then a 20 per cent cut on such incomes up to $302,000; then a 10.5 per cent cut on such incomes over $302,000.

(Taxable income is the income you have left after taking from it your personal exemptions and deductions.)

Democrats Ask Survey

The Democrats say a real study of the whole tax set-up should be made if taxes are going to be cut at all.

The Republicans shout back that taxes are just too high and something must be done now.

Both sides get involved in a lot of fancy figuring. You ought to see the amazing document put out by the house committee which figured the cut.

Republicans and Democrats are on the committee. Outnumbering the Democrats, the Republicans in the front of the report the pushed through their idea. Republicans gleefully tell you how good the cuts are.

In the back of the book the Democrats say that's all phony, that it only looks good.

And to add to the confusion, both sides in the report produce tax tables to show the other side is all wet.

5 OHIO COUNTIES TO GET FREE ELECTRICITY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., March 28 — Residents of five northeastern Ohio counties were assured today of virtually a month's free electric service by settlement of a rate dispute between city officials and the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.

The settlement — announced by Mayor Thomas A. Burke and subject to a council approval next Monday — amounts to a $2,000,000 credit on July power bills. Council approval is regarded as only a formality.

This means, said CEI President Elmer L. Lindseth, that every consumer's bill for power used in June "will be wiped out or nearly so."

Should a credit exceed the July bill, he declared, a cut will be applied to the August statement.

Some 324,272 CEI subscribers in these counties are affected: Ashtabula, Lake, Lorain, Cuyahoga and Geauga.

The CEI-Cleveland settlement marked the close of a fight that started July 6, 1944, when council passed an ordinance cutting the present rate. After the public utilities commission of Ohio upheld the rate as fair, Cleveland appealed to the Ohio supreme court.

OHIO TREASURERS SEEK PAY INCREASE

Marion County Official Acts for State Association.

Marion E. Hinklin, Marion county treasurer, who appeared Wednesday as a representative of the association of county treasurers of Ohio before the state senate finance committee in support of a measure to grant pay boosts to county treasurers, today explained further efforts of Ohio treasurers to obtain salary adjustments.

Mr. Hinklin was one of four county treasurers, all representatives of the association, who asked committee support of the pay increase bill, submitted by Senator Ralph W. Winter, Republican of Medina. Mr. Hinklin was a representative of the executive committee of the association. Others who appeared with him were Harold Collier of Huron county, vice president of the association who represented the president; Hugh J. Campbell of Guernsey county, who represented the legislative committee of the association and Harry E. Marshall of Jefferson county, who appeared in behalf of the local government association committee.

The legislation would grant county treasurers pay boosts of about 20 per cent, with a minimum salary of $2,400.

The Marion county treasurer pointed out that county treasurers have received no pay increases by law since 1906, although some have received raises due to increased population in their counties. A majority of other county officers have received pay increases by law since that time, Mr. Hinklin stated. Due to a population drop in Marion county, however, the salary of the county treasurer here is less than it was in 1931, he explained.

He cited examples in several counties of Ohio where treasurers' salaries were extremely low. Salary of the Morrow county treasurer is $1,500 and in other counties it is as low as $1,100.

The proposed salary increase would not apply on the present terms of office and could not become effective until 1949 when the new terms start, Mr. Hinklin stated.

Medieval salt cellars were often elaborate pieces of craftsmanship.

GALION MAN IN HOSPITAL

Special to The Star

GALION, March 28 — Charles Wildenthaler, 55, was taken to City hospital about 9:30 last night by police after he was found unconscious at his home here. He was treated there and was ready to be dismissed this morning, pending order of release by police authorities. Police reported they were called on the case earlier in the evening by Jake Kilburg, bartender at a Galion tavern, when Wildenthaler left there after showing Kilburg a bottle of Lysol, which he said he was intending to drink, in spite of remonstrances by the bartender. Police stated after investigation that it was evident Wildenthaler had had a quarrel earlier with a woman friend.

STOCKS SHIFT OVER IRREGULAR RANGE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 28—Except for a few strong spots, leading stocks shifted over a narrowly irregular range in today's market.

Profit cashing on the two preceding recovery sessions was evident from the start. Dealings slowed following a fairly active opening and the direction was obscure near the fourth hour.

International Harvester and National Distillers made new highs for the year. Occasional resistance was displayed by Santa Fe, Great Northern Railway, Caterpillar Tractor, Goodyear, American Can and Allied Chemical.

Backward at intervals were U.S. Steel, General Motors, Woolworth, American Telephone, Western Union "A," North American, Kennecott, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, N. Y. Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Texas Co., Standard Oil (NJ), Dow Chemical, Westinghouse, Du Pont and Johns-Manville.

New Houses will be higher this year
I have just returned from a vacation in Texas and old Mexico—on my way down and back I looked at several hundred new houses under construction—talked to dozens of builders, lumber and building material men. They all tell me houses will be higher this year due to higher costs of building material and labor.
I am again offering the Universal double houses on Fish Ave., at the same price $11,000—that is only $5,500 per unit for a good strictly modern home with garage $2,500 down—small monthly payments—There are no better buys anywhere today than these well built homes, either for investment or for a home. LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

THERE was stark panic in Noel Veritzen's eyes as his young wife flung her frantic question at him.

Then his body gave a sudden jerk, and I knew as well as if I had seen the movement, that Dicky had sent an elbow into his ribs, at the same time murmuring a command into his ear.

"No, no, Mary!" he babbled. "I didn't say anything. Oh, you frightened me so when you fainted!"

Elbow Found Mark

"What was the last word you heard me say?" she demanded, and again I saw his body jerk, as Dicky's elbow once more found a mark.

"I—I—don't remember," he said. "I—I thought you were dead, and I ran into the other room and yelled at them to come. And then I ran back to you, and then they all came in and—"

"Nobody has had time to say anything, Mrs. Veritzen." Dr. Twitchell smoothly took over the conversation. "You have been unconscious only a minute or two, and all of us have been too busy to talk."

Mary looked at her husband again, a steady, penetrating gaze. "I remember now," she said. "Did you do what I asked?"

Didn't Have Time

"I didn't have time," he said. "You fainted while you were talking, and then I ran for the doctor."

"Mr. Graham!" Dr. Twitchell's voice held a mandate. "Will you take Mr. Veritzen into the other room for a little while? Mrs. Graham, I need you here."

Dicky put his hand under Noel's arm, and I guessed that he almost had to carry the younger man out of the room. When the door closed behind them, Dr. Twitchell bent over Mary.

"Mrs. Veritzen," he said gently. "Something is troubling you. There is something you want. Can't you tell me what it is?"

His voice was so kind and gentle that I told myself it would have coaxed the birds off the bushes, as the old cliche puts it.

Mary responded to it as a hurt child might. She looked at him pleadingly.

Wants Something Terribly

"Yes, there is something I want terribly," she said. "But I know you won't let me have it."

"How do you know?" he asked, smiling down at her.

"Because you've said that I have to go to sleep right away," she answered childishly.

"And you don't want to go to sleep?" he asked.

"No, I don't," she said.

"Well, then, you needn't," he said, while I gave an inward gasp of surprise.

"Oh, Dr. Twitchell!" she gurgled, with her face alive with happiness. "Do you really mean that?"

"I really do," he said, "provided that you tell me why you want to stay awake."

Her face fell perceptibly.

A Catch In It

"I thought there was a catch in it," she said dolefully. "You'll never let me do what I want to do if I stay awake."

He smiled encouragingly at her again.

"Suppose you try me and see," he said. "Tell me what it is you want to do."

She looked up at him with eyes that held stars.

"Oh, if this is only true!" she cried. "If there really is a Santa Claus!"

Then she drew a deep breath, and raised herself on her elbow. But Dr. Twitchell gently put her back against her pillows.

"Talk from there," he said smiling.

"I will," she said. "You know that Aunt Madge is writing a play for me. I want to study some of the lines of it before I go to sleep. May I?"

Jury Awards Verdict In Damage Action

A Marion county common pleas court jury Thursday afternoon awarded Fred W. Hoch and the Potomac Insurance Co. of the District of Columbia a judgment of $321 in their damage suit against H. C. Maxwell.

The jury verdict, reached after 25 minutes deliberation and signed by all 12 members of the jury, was for the full amount asked for in the plaintiff's petition. Mr. Hoch had asked for $92.13 and the insurance company for $228.37 for damages claimed following a traffic accident Jan. 15, 1946 at State and East Center streets in which the automobile of the plaintiff and the truck of the defendant collided.

Moore and Myers were attorneys for the plaintiff and Bartram and Bartram for the defendant. C. D. Boxwell of Prospect was foreman of the jury.
